Spunky Little Monkey by Bill Martin Jr. and Michael Sampson

Sleepy little monkeys everywhere will clap, stomp, shake, and cheer--while chanting this rhythmic, energetic dance song based on a popular playground game. And as they move their heads, hands, hips, and feet--everyone will be bursting with clapping energy--and ready to start a new day!

The Pout-Pout Fish by Deborah Diesen

Swim along with the pout-pout fish as he discovers that being glum and spreading "dreary wearies" isn't really his destiny. Bright ocean colors and playful rhyme come together in Deborah this fun fish story that's sure to turn even the poutiest of frowns upside down.

From 1 to 10 by Mies Van Hout

A bright and vivacious counting book for the very young featuring paintings rendered in bold hues that appeal to toddlers. Simple and straightforward for counting practice.

Up, Up, Up, Down by Kimberly Gee

Follow an energetic toddler's day with Dad that's full of opposites - up and down, make and break, yum and yuck, and more.

Pete the Cat I Love My White Shoes by Eric Litwin

Pete the Cat goes walking down the street wearing his brand-new white shoes. Along the way, his shoes change from white to red to blue to brown to WET as he steps in various piles and messes! But no matter what, Pete keeps movin' and groovin' and singing his song... because it's all good. Kids love to interact with this first book in the Pete the Cat series. Check out this YouTube video to get the groovy tune: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=nUubMSfls-U>

Tip Tip Dig Dig by Emma Garcia

A parade of colorful construction vehicles doing their work means plenty of joyful action! From the crane that lifts, lifts, lifts, to the steamroller that rolls, rolls, rolls, every machine here has its own special job. And the surprise ending, when the great big mess on page one becomes a wonderful playground, is sure to leave kids pleased!

Dancing Feet by Lindsay Craig

Lindsey Craig's rollicking text features funny sound words (Tippity! Creepity! Stompity! Thumpity!), dancing animals, a singsong beat, and a guessing element just easy enough for youngsters to anticipate. Grab a partner and tap your feet to this read-aloud picture-book treat.

From Head to Toe by Eric Carle

Giraffes can bend their necks, monkeys can wave their hands, and donkeys can kick their legs. And so can you! Throughout this interactive board book, the animals of From Head to Toe invite young readers to copy their antics as they play.

Freight Train by Donald Crews

This Caldecott Honor Book features bright colors and bold shapes. Even a child not lucky enough to have counted freight cars will feel he or she has watched a freight train passing after reading Freight Train.

If You're Happy And You Know It! By Jane Cabrera

Young listeners will love moving, clapping, and flapping in this brightly colored book, full of joyful jungle animals. Nod along with groovy giraffe, flap with baby bird, and ROAR out loud with lion. Jane Cabrera's fresh spin on the familiar song is a family favorite for baby dance parties since 2003.

Where's the Ladybug? by Ingela P. Arrhenius

Five beautifully illustrated spreads show a series of friendly bugs hiding behind bright felt flaps. And there's a mirror on the final page! A perfect book to share with little ones. Also try Where's the Giraffe by the same author.

I Thought I Saw a Bear! by Lydia Nichols

This silly but stylish slider book is sure to give little ones a giggle and some fine motor practice. They'll love joining in a game of hide-and-seek as they move the sliders to reveal the animal hiding in every scene. I Thought I Saw a Lion is another fun choice by the same author.

Will Sheep Sleep? By Hilary Leung

Meet Sheep. Sheep's had a very busy day and now he is tired... but will Sheep finally be able to sleep? Find out in this surprising and memorable storybook all about friendship, compromise, and of course, bedtime routines. Will Bear Share? by the same author is also fun to read with your little one.

The Button Book by Sally Nicholls

Follow a group of animal friends as they discover a collection of mysterious buttons, all of which do different things! From a blue singing button to a purple tickle button, there's only one way to find out what they do: press them all! This silly and sweet picture book introduces young children to colors and shapes through humor and clever interactive elements.

Hooray for Little Fingers by Tristan Mory

This board book will take young readers on a journey towards learning to count and exploring just what their little fingers can do! With die-cut holes on every spread, one little finger can be an elephant's trunk, two little fingers can be a crab's claw, but who is peeking through one of the holes? The wriggly surprise at the end makes for a satisfying discovery. This interactive book practices basic counting and encourages imaginative play with colorful designs and bright illustrations that capture the attention of toddlers.

Get Out of My Bath! by Britta Teckentrup

Ellie the elephant loves to have fun in the bath, but her fun is interrupted when others decide to join in! Poor Ellie's bath is ruined. What can she do? A beautifully designed, boldly illustrated picture book for the very young in which readers are encouraged to get involved in the story through tilting and shaking the book.

Do Cows Meow? By Salina Yoon

Have fun making animal sounds with this brightly illustrated lift-the flap book. Each animal has a short, silly rhyme with a flap that opens the animal's mouth to reveal its sound. At the end, children can open two barnyard gates to see and say all the animal sounds again.

Not Quite Black And White by Jonathan Ying

Have you ever seen a zebra wearing pink polka dots? Or a penguin with bright yellow boots? Silly animals star in this lively board book that introduces colors in a unique and catchy way.

We are Family by Peg Hegarty

This diverse and inclusive picture book shows that through illness and health, in celebration and disappointment, families stick together. Using short rhyming text and lots of colorful illustrations, little ones will get the important message that even though every family is different, the love is all the same.

A Good Day by Kevin Henkes

It's a bad day for a little yellow bird, a little white dog, a little orange fox, and a little brown squirrel, but then something good happens to each of them, turning a bad day into a good one. This beautifully illustrated book can help children to consider: What makes a good day? What makes a bad day? And how can bad be transformed into good?

Little Owl Lost by Chris Haughton

Oh No! Little Owl has fallen from his nest and is lost. Can a good intentioned squirrel help Little Owl find his mommy? As they search for animals that fit Little Owl's description of Mommy Owl, they find some that are big, or have pointy ears, but none of them have all the features that make up his mommy. This short and endearing story will have toddlers giggling.

Hands Can by Cheryl Willis Hudson

Hands can do so many things - wave hello and goodbye, play peekaboo, touch things, clap, even tie a shoe. For the very young, hands are a never-ending source of discovery and a means of mastery in an ever-unfolding world. With singsong rhythm, simple design, and alluring color photos of toddlers, Hands Can invites the littlest readers to discover the many things hands can do.

Hooray For Hat by Brian Won

Elephant wakes up grumpy - until ding, dong! Someone leaves a surprise... a hat! Elephant marches off to show Zebra, but Zebra is having a grumpy day, too - until Elephant shares his new hat and cheers up his friend. Off they march to show Turtle! The parade continues as every animal brightens the day of a grumpy friend. A fun celebration of friendship, sharing, and fabulous hats.

That's Not My Sloth by Fiona Watt

Will you ever find your sloth? The sloth on each page is not quite like your sloth. Your little one will enjoy the tactile elements on every page of this touch and feel book as well as spotting the mouse on each page. You might want to try some of the other titles in the That's Not My... series.
