Anger is a Gift

Oshiro, Mark

Moss Jeffries wishes he could be someone else—someone without panic attacks, someone whose father was still alive. When tragedy strikes again, Moss must face a difficult choice: give in to fear and hate or realize that anger can actually be a gift.

Hate U Give

Lacey, Josh

Starr Carter witnesses the fatal shooting of her friend Khalil at the hands of an officer. Then protesters take to the streets and Starr's neighborhood becomes a war zone when police don't investigate.

How It Went Down

Magoon, Kekla

When 16-year-old Tariq Johnson is shot to death, his community is thrown into an uproar because Tariq was black and the shooter, Jack Franklin, is white, and in the aftermath everyone has something to say, but no two accounts of the events agree.

Tyler Johnson Was Here

Coles, Jay

What starts as harmless fun at a party turns into a shooting, followed by a police raid. The next day Tyler is missing, and it's up to his twin brother Marvin to find him. But when Tyler is found dead, a video leaked online tells a more chilling story: Tyler has been shot and killed by a police officer.

I Am Alfonso Jones

Medina, Tony

The ghost of fifteen-year-old Alfonso Jones travels in a New York subway car full of the living and the dead, watching his family and friends fight for justice after he is killed by an off-duty police officer while buying a suit in a midtown department store.
