

Lucy Robbins Welles Library Virtual Book Kit

Stellaluna by Janell Cannon

When Stellaluna is separated from her mother before she is old enough to fly, she finds out that not all winged creatures eat fruit. But swallowing food that crawls is just one of the many amazing things this little fruit bat must learn to do. Not all are lessons in survival however, for as Stellaluna adapts to life with her new family, she learns all about friendship in humorous and touching ways.

1. WATCH and LISTEN to STELLALUNA being read by actor Pamela Reed for Storyline Online:

<https://youtu.be/VLRIVyWUzxs>

2. Choose an activity (or two!) to extend the fun:

- MAKE your own bug snacks! In the story Stellaluna has to eat bugs to fit in with her new owl family try creating your own buggy meal like ants on a log, worms in dirt, or bug juice! Could you eat a bug?
- READ more about real Bats and Owls by exploring Pebble Go! Find out more about their natural habitats and even more fun facts!

Bats

<https://bit.ly/2SAixoD>

Owls

<https://bit.ly/2zRU9IE>

- WATCH Bat World Sanctuary live bat cams! Observe real life bats that have found a home at the Bat World Sanctuary on their 24 hours live streams set up inside their bat enclosures. Remember though bats are nocturnal so they will be most active at night.

View Here: <https://batworld.org/bat-cams/>

- CREATE using a toilet paper roll, construction paper, and some glue or any crafting materials you have create your own bat just like Stellaluna!

Example: <https://bit.ly/2WregVD>

Share pictures of your experience by tagging us on Instagram, Facebook, or Twitter using #LRWLKids!